

Register your Region as Your Jet Stream Enters The Convergence Zone

August 30, 2007

10:00-11:15

All indicators predict a fascinating weather phenomenon to occur in the Pacific Northwest during the last week of August. Current computer models pinpoint a spectacular array of air flows to converge during the NCBC Conference. During this time, forecasters are needed to interpret the winds.

Title of your Jet Stream (tips, techniques or practices developed by your court):

Forecaster (local subject matter expert):

Local Title:

Phone:

Region (District):

Please identify the function that closely relates to your topic:

HR Financial Operations IT Training Quality of Work/Life

Based on forecasts, what innovation has your region developed locally? (Please provide a short synopsis that briefly describes what it is; what prompted the idea; and the benefits.)

You will be contacted at a later date to determine tech needs. Please plan to provide staff during the event who have information about and can answer questions regarding your topic.

E-mail your completed registration to Kathy Grzybowski.. You may contact her at 608-261-5743.